

Your retirement guide

For employees

Retirement is a big step

Over the next few weeks and months, you'll be asked to make many important decisions about your New York Life benefits and your financial security. This easy-to-use guide takes you step by step through the New York Life retirement process. It also provides information about some of the other things you need to know, do, and consider so your retirement starts off right.

Tip:

Checklist

Please use the checklist on the last page to keep track of the steps you complete as you go through the retirement process.

How to get started

You can begin the retirement process one of two ways:

Initiate your retirement online at the Your Benefits Resources™ website (YBR). After logging onto YBR, you can go to “Savings and Retirement,” and then click on “Retire Now.”

You will be asked to enter your last work day and to verify your personal data (such as date of birth and, if applicable, your spouse’s date of birth). All you have to do is follow the steps. A retirement specialist will call you after you have initiated your retirement, to review your elections and discuss your benefits with you.

Call the New York Life InfoLine at 1-888-513-4636 and select “401(k) Savings, Deferred Plans and Retirement” then “Pension” to reach a retirement specialist.

That specialist will become your primary point of contact for the entire process, and he or she will work with you—using this guide—until you retire. Your retirement specialist’s job is to make the process easy, convenient, and hassle free—so you can retire with peace of mind. Each time you call, simply ask for your retirement specialist by name and the customer service representative will transfer you to him or her.

Note: If your retirement specialist isn’t available when you call, a customer service representative will schedule an appointment for your retirement specialist to return your call.

Tips:

Start the process early.

Start the retirement process up to three months before you want to stop working. This will give both you and New York Life enough time to get everything in place for a smooth transition. When you call, your retirement specialist will walk you through the process and the steps you’ll need to take. You’ll receive a retirement kit soon after your call or after you initiate it online.

Remember to report address changes.

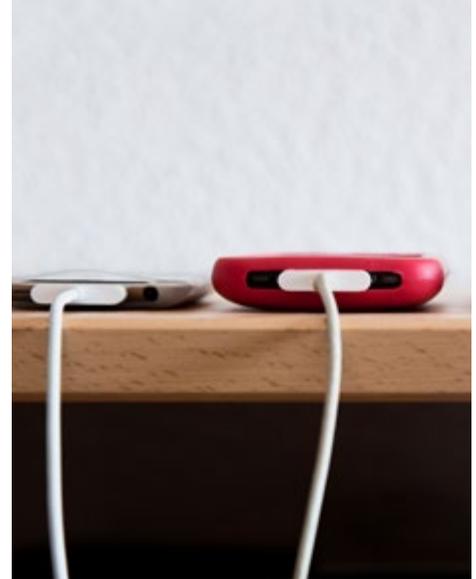

After you retire, don’t forget to let New York Life know if your address changes. To report an address change, visit YBR at <http://digital.alight.com/newyorklife> or call 1-888-513-4636 and ask to speak with a representative. Be sure to set up your user ID and password on YBR before you retire. You’ll need them when you call after you retire.

Working with your retirement specialist

Retirement specialists understand how important your retirement decisions are. They'll take your elections over the phone, help you complete and submit any required paperwork, and help you understand:

- How to choose a retirement date that maximizes the benefits you'll receive from New York Life;
- Your Pension Plan and 401(k) Savings Plan payout options, and retiree medical options (if eligible);
- The pension benefits forms and information you'll receive;
- How to begin receiving your Social Security and Medicare benefits; and
- What actions you need to take, and when.

Note: You may also want to consider consulting a tax advisor about your retirement options.

Online tools and information

Access Your Benefits Resources (YBR) via the company intranet or directly from the Internet (<http://digital.alight.com/newyorklife>), using your YBR user ID and password for detailed, personalized information about your New York Life benefits and easy-to-use modeling tools that will help you make decisions about your benefit options. Representatives are also available via the New York Life InfoLine at 1-888-513-4636, Monday to Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Eastern Time.

Tip:

Set up an ID and password on YBR before you retire.

For your security, you'll need your user ID and password for Your Benefits Resources (YBR) to work with a retirement specialist or access personalized information or modeling tools on YBR. If you have never set them up or don't remember them, visit <http://digital.alight.com/newyorklife> or call 1-888-513-4636 to set them up or request new ones. You'll need them to call or log on after you've retired, so be sure they have been set up before your last day worked.

Retirement action steps

Use this guide to keep track of what you need to do as you work through the retirement process.

Employee Pension Plan

What you need to know

- If you're vested in the Plan, you'll receive a pension benefit.

What you need to do

- Review the information in the retirement kit you'll receive soon after you start the retirement process.
- Choose the type of payments you want, as well as how and when you want to receive them.
- Return the required forms at least 30 days before your retirement date to make sure your payments won't be delayed. (There is still at least a one-month lag before you will see your first pension payment).
- Copy your documents. Do not send your only copy!
- Have your bank or other account information available to set up direct deposit.
- Call your retirement specialist or visit YBR for more information.

Important:

Choose your retirement date carefully. If you are "grandfathered" under the Pension Plan, your age and years of service have a big impact on the amount of your benefit. They also impact your eligibility for health care benefits in retirement. Your retirement specialist can give you the information you need to help you make the decision that's right for you.

Note: Your retirement date is the day after your last day of work. Since your pension benefit commencement date must be the first day of a month, to avoid any gap in income (i.e., a period where you will not receive a salary or a pension benefit), your last day of work should be the last business day of the month prior to your benefit commencement date.

New York Life 401(k) Savings Plan

What you need to know

- Your contributions and company match stop when you retire.
- You must pay back outstanding loans within 60 days of retiring or the balance will become taxable income.
- You can leave your money in your account if your balance is greater than $1,000, take a portion or all of it in cash, or roll over a portion or all of it into an individual retirement account (IRA) or another employer's eligible retirement plan.
- You'll continue to choose how your account balance is invested.
- You must begin required minimum distribution (RMD) payments on or before April 1 of the year following the year you reach age 70½ or the year you separate from service with the company, whichever is later.

What you need to do

- Choose if, how, and when you want to take money out. If you want to leave your money in the Plan and your account balance is greater than $1,000, no action is required at retirement.
- Contact your retirement specialist or visit YBR for more information.

Retiree medical and dental coverage

under the Group Plan for New York Life Retired Agents and Employees (“Group Plan”)

What you need to know

Medical coverage

Eligibility

- You will be eligible for retiree medical benefits if, at retirement, you are at least age 55 and have 10 or more years of service and:
- You (and your current eligible dependents) are enrolled in coverage as an active employee on your last day of work before you retire.

Enrollment

- You will automatically be enrolled in retiree medical (if eligible). However, there may be decisions you need to make regarding the company subsidy. Please call the New York Life InfoLine to review these decisions.
- If you and/or your enrolled eligible dependents are Medicare-eligible, Medicare will be primary. If you and/or your eligible dependents are Medicare-eligible when you retire, you will be placed into the option available to Medicare-eligible retirees.
- If you call the New York Life InfoLine and decline enrollment for retiree medical coverage at retirement, you will not be able to enroll for retiree medical coverage in the future.

Tip:

Primary vs. Secondary Coverage

When Medicare is primary and NYL is secondary, claims should be filed with Medicare first and New York Life (NYL) second. You should consider signing up for Medicare Direct with Aetna so Medicare will automatically forward the claims to Aetna to see if there is any additional payment responsibility under NYL’s coverage.

Medicare-eligible retirees: NYL and Medicare work together—
Medicare is primary

- Medicare Part A (Hospital) and Medicare Part B (Medical) coverage

New York Life's retiree medical coverage under the Group Plan for Medicare-eligible retirees integrates with Medicare and, in determining your benefits, assumes that you are enrolled in both Part A and Part B coverage. Although enrollment in Part B is optional, it's important that you have both Part A and Part B coverage to receive the most benefits possible. Here's why: Whether you have Part B coverage or not, our Plan will not pay for coverage that Medicare would pay for. So, if you don't have Part B coverage you'll be responsible for paying the expenses that Part B would have covered.

- Part D (Prescription Drug) coverage

New York Life's retiree medical coverage under the Group Plan for Medicare-eligible retirees includes coverage for prescription drugs provided through Express Scripts' Medicare™ Prescription Drug Plan (PDP); this is an approved Medicare Part D plan. So, if you enroll for New York Life retiree medical coverage, you do not need to purchase Medicare Part D on your own. You will receive important materials about this program when you are eligible for it, and you should follow the instructions provided. Speak to your retirement specialist if you have questions about this coverage, your contributions, or what you need to do.

Non-Medicare-eligible retirees:

If you're not Medicare-eligible when you retire, New York Life's plan will be your primary plan until you become eligible for Medicare (generally at age 65). Medicare becomes your primary coverage as soon as you are eligible even if you have not enrolled in it. If you and your spouse become eligible for Medicare at different times, you'll be eligible for different New York Life retiree medical options.

Cost:

You will be directly billed by the New York Life Benefits Center for your monthly retiree medical contributions. Your monthly contributions will not be deducted from your monthly pension payments. You will be responsible for paying your monthly retiree medical contributions on time.

- If you do not pay your monthly contributions on time, your coverage will be terminated due to non-payment. You will forfeit your coverage for non-payment and you will no longer have medical coverage.
- You can set up direct debit for your medical payments to ensure continuous coverage.
- You must begin your retiree coverage when you are first eligible; if you do not, you cannot request to add coverage at a later date for you or any eligible dependent.

Important:

If you marry after you retire, you cannot add your new spouse to your coverage. You may add a newborn or newly eligible child to your coverage after you retire. If you drop coverage for yourself, coverage for your dependents will be dropped. If you drop your retiree coverage or if you continue your coverage but do not continue coverage for your enrolled eligible dependents, they cannot be added at a later date.

Retiree dental coverage

New York Life no longer offers a retiree dental plan. If you were enrolled in dental as an active employee, you will be offered COBRA. However, certain retirees that have met certain age and service requirements may be grandfathered and eligible for dental coverage. If you are eligible for retiree dental coverage, you will receive additional information regarding retiree dental coverage on your enrollment worksheet. Your retirement specialist will also be able to provide you with additional information.

What you need to do

- Enroll in Medicare three months before you reach age 65. If you wait to enroll, you may have to pay a penalty.
- If you are over age 65 when you retire and have not already enrolled for Medicare Part B, you can enroll during the eight-month period that begins the month your employment ends. If you don't enroll during this period, you can enroll between January 1 and March 31 each year, and coverage will begin on July 1; however, you may pay a penalty.
- Visit www.socialsecurity.gov or call 1-800-772-1213 to enroll in Medicare.
- For information about Medicare, visit www.medicare.gov or call 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227).
